“ Ginger, I cannot imagine the sorrow and pain that you and your family are feeling right now. There are so many more questions than answers in times like this. What I do know is that “an enemy has done this.” We look forward to the day when death and sadness will be no more. Jesus will put an end to our tears. For now, I pray that the Comforter will be present all around your family. Even so come Lord Jesus!

“ I am sorry Ginger, that you and your family are in affliction and sorrow. But Jesus, our precious Saviour, lives. He lives for you. He promise that He will be your help and your strength. Trust in Him. Remember that not a sparrow falls to the ground without the notice of our heavenly Father, He will supply the grace you need to endure. Fight the good fight of faith and lay hold on eternal life. Be comforted in His love and in the hope of resurrection morning. Very soon you will see Asher again. Jesus is coming soon.

PS

I am praying that our God, who is a God of comfort and strength, will wrap his loving arms around your family and all of Asher's loved ones during this almost unbearable sadness and loss. I too lost my son, you will make it during these early days of grief and shock with the help of God's hands on earth. The kindness and acts of others will keep you upright. You and your family are on my heart and in my prayers as I pray for strength and comfort for all. 🙏❤️🙏

He was a fine example of Jesus to all of the other children in our Wednesday night classes and a pleasure to be with. Some memories include him feeding goldfish to Lynnelee in her car carrier when she was small and then he was so helpful to the younger kids and would always exchange candy with them to make sure they had the flavor they wanted. I can't imagine the pain, but I know that he is with Jesus. I love y'all, Paul, Ginger, Emily and Ivy!*
