“ I first met Beth in October 2007 when she helped the Dougherty Circuit Bar Association stuff Halloween goodie bags for local nursing home residents. She and I together managed the Mock Trial Competition in February 2008. We taught together as part-time professors for Darton College, and we worked together in the Dougherty County judicial system. We became close because, as a Lupus patient, I could relate both to her sufferings and to her struggle to live life as normally as possible. We supported one another through the ups and downs of chronic illness. When I was hospitalized just before her last Christmas, she wanted to come see me and bring me something. I told her not risk the exposure to germs. She was willing to risk getting sick herself to check on me. Beth was just that kind of person. She and I used to joke about wanting Jesus to come back and give us our new bodies that would work right and not hurt all the time. Now Beth has her new body in heaven, and she is no longer suffering. My life will never be the same without her, and she will be sorely missed.

“ Beth is the first person I remember meeting in the second grade when I moved to Sylvester...and she remained a devoted friend. She was ALWAYS encouraging, saw things for exactly for what they were, and wasn't afraid to say it! We are all blessed to have had her in our lives and she will be missed greatly. Thanks to everyone for sharing your memories!

“ In my fondest memory of her, Beth NeSmith, was a beautiful, intelligent, creative, loving, kind and gentle student. She was an excellent reason for me (her 6th grade teacher) to get up each morning and look forward to the day. These characteristics put her high on my list of favorite students in my career. In the late 90's I was reacquainted with Beth when she came to WCMS as our registrar while awaiting her entry into law school. She was pleasant to work with and helpful to us older computer challenged teachers. We were all sad to see her leave but happy that she was heading to law school. When she graduated we all felt a sense of pride in her achievement. One very bright light has gone out of the world, but the angels have gained a beautiful soul. I know she will be looking down on us as guardian angels always do.
