“ Grandma you will be so very missed by everyone. But especially by grandpa and myself. You were my rock when I couldn't be strong anymore. You were my cheerleader telling me the whole time I COULD do it. And last but not least. You brought me to God as a child and as an adult I put God away and did what I wanted to do, no matter how high the price nor consequence..(maybe you shouldn't have done such a good job at getting me to believe I was good at everything I did) (haha) and you reminded me during so those times it's always God. Will always be God and it has always been God. Nothing happened or happens or will happen for no reason & that he won't put no more on me than I could handle. To which I always said,"I wish he wouldn't trust me so much." You showed me how to be able to finally trust God and his plan and be ok with way things are. Thank you for being a mother to me, a grandmother,my best friend, my confidante, my shrink, my buffer with Grandpa. I don't think we would be been able to not kill each other without you. And last but not least. Thank you for being my world. My sunshine on stormy days. My rainbow after that storm. Thank you Grandma, for saving me from myself all those times. I love you. And you will be so very missed. Keep mom straight. I'm sure her and wasDaddy is a fighting as usual and grandpa and grandma are getting snookered. Peace and serenity you finally have..ahhh...I'm jealous of you old woman...xoxo love you always & for all of eternityDorothy Rose WrightYour loving yet screw up of a granddaughter

“ My condolences

As you grief the loss of your dear loved one, may the memories that mean the most to you live close to your heart along with "God promise to wipe away the tears from your eyes and death will be no more, neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be any more the former things have passed away."
