“ Stan, it's August 9, 2022. Almost four years since I have laid eyes on you or heard your voice. Things have changed so, so much. Which is normal, I suppose. Every August since the day you left, I start to get an uneasy feeling and I seem to relive the last month and a half that you were here on this earth.... like it was literally yesterday. It's still excruciatingly painful because until September 12th, it's almost as if it never happened, as if you are just away for a little while. Then there's the after September 12th..... I guess sorta like BC& AD..... the time you were here then the now when you aren't... I miss you so much. But I do know without a doubt that you are here with me. And I thank God for letting me know that you are around. I know that you are so proud of your nieces and nephew and great nieces and nephew!! They would have a ball playing with Uncle Stan!! I know that you are so proud of Madison and Emma.... Stan they are just so perfect and wonderful! You know I was worried for a while there, but God had them and me all along! You will always hold my heart in your hands.... once you have had that person, that soulmate, there will never be another... my heart is yours and I thank God that your heart was mine ❤️

“ Stanley my big buddy you’ve affectionately referred to me as Trixie which I’m going to tremendously miss hearing. I’ll miss your random text telling me you love and miss me. I’ll also miss you sending me photos of your flea market finds. There is so much more I’ll miss about you Stanley. I’ll always love you my buddy.

“ I could go on for days talking about atan and our times together in high school. I just texted him last week and he was coming to paint my house in Atlanta soon. Stan always made everyone laugh, my grandmother always asked how is Stan doing when we were younger. My whole family loved him. We had so many good times back in the day, Tim Bice, Stan ,Chad,Jason, Mike especially the beach trips. . You will always be loved and thought of Stan. God bless you Teddy

“ I've loved Stan since he was 3 yrs old. This is so heartbreaking but I know he is celebrating with Jimmy, his mom, his dad & friends & relatives. One of the 1st times he came to spend a whole weekend with me and Jimmy I had gone out and bought 'kid friendly" food. When I served him his spaghetti-o's he said " where's my steak?" We watched lots of smurfs, talked about everything under the sun and, if I remember correctly, I ate the spaghetti-o's and he ate my steak. He will be missed by so many but will always live on in our hearts. (if you don't have enough memories I can share some of mine with you!)

“ Stan, I don't even know how or where to begin. You have been a light in my life for so very long. You have made me laugh, cry, you have taken me on adventures and the last adventure that you will take me on may be weeks from now or maybe years, but I will one day be on the best adventure yet; with you in heaven. Until then, I love you, always have and I always, always will. I will See you soon my love❤️

Sorry for the loss

My love, it has been almost seven months now. Seven heart wrenching, lost months. Seven months of not hearing anything word from you except for the videos that I have of you. Everything is stuck in time. The time before September 12th. Yes, everything is moving forward. We are all having birthdays, some of us are about to graduate, some are getting married, some of us are finding out that they are terminally ill and some are having babies. I suppose that that is life; as everyone says. "Life goes on". But the ones of us that dare to say that, I'm sure haven't lost someone that they truly love with all of their being. I don't yet if time heals all, maybe those that can say life goes on, has had plenty of time to "heal"? Is that the correct word? Or maybe to have found "peace"? I don't know. I, myself, am still grieving your loss. This is the most horrible thing that I have been through in my entire life. I'm sure that to others, there are far worse, such as losing a child and thank you God that I have not experienced that. I love you with my whole heart Stan, I will never love another. I always told you you hold my heart in your hands and it's never been more true than it is now. Always and forever yours...Dana
