“ I am so sorry for your loss. Terrie was my best friend from fifth grade through graduation and then we lost touch. I have tried over the years to find her. I found her at last two days ago but it is too late for a reunion. Obviously I didn't know Terrie as an adult but if she was anything like the girl I knew, I am so glad you had the privilege of knowing her because she was fantastic. My heart is grieving for the reunion we will never have and, even more, for the much more real and immediate loss you and your family must deal with. I am a widow (since remarried) myself so, to her husband, I send special condolences and offer up prayers on your behalf.

*With love and sweet memories,
